The Shocking Truth About McDonald's Burgers And Fries

Gal skanu, riebu mėšainį? Gal bulvyčių? McDonald's french fries still look perfect after 11 months. McDonald's has propylene glycol in their Big Mac Sauce. Automobile radiator fluid and aircraft deicing fluid are made from propylene glycol. Are there any good food choices at McDonald's? Does McDonald's use quality ingredients in their food? Is McDonald's food and better for you or any worse for you that Subway, Wendy's, Burger King, Chik-fil-A or Taco Bell? In this series Bryan has visited all of those fast food stores to determine what are the best choices at each. Bryan looks at the ingredients of the food items and makes his recommendations with the understanding that fast food is not quality food. The McDonald's french fries in this video have been used in Bryan's other videos to create a reliable and authentic timeline documenting their age. Šaltinis: interneto platybės. Informaciją parengė:
